

To suppliers of Bayer around the world

Information request in case of endangered supply continuity

Dear Suppliers,

In the light of the global coronavirus pandemic, health and nutrition – two of our most basic human needs – take on even more significance. This is why the continuity of supplies of our external partners is of utmost importance.

We would like to ask you to immediately communicate to us in case you do see risks regarding the supply continuity to Bayer.

In relevant cases, please contact either your known counterparts in Bayer Procurement or the contact mentioned on the last purchase order.

In addition, we would like to inform you that there might be specific local inspections or checks as well as protection measures at our Bayer sites when receiving goods or services.

Depending on the country situation regarding the coronavirus pandemic, measures will be applied. We count on you to support and cope with the defined local measures to help us to prevent further spreading of the virus.

The content of this letter might be subject to changes, as the global situation is constantly reviewed by Bayer Procurement to ensure that we comply with relevant regulatory or social activities.
